TALES OF THE SKEENA.

Mr. Hankin's Adventures and Work Among the Skeena River Indians.

Death of Mr. Youmans—Tragedy on the Skeena—Old Reminiscences.

Mr. Hankin returned to the Skeena as one of a company of merchants, determined again to face the heavy obstacles that he had before found in the then perilous and most tedious journey from the coast and in the habits of an ill-mannered people. A horde of painted savages, their only dress a robe of fur thrown over the shoulders, their hair coarse and straight, was in the men raised in a greasy and imposing chignon over the crown of the head, their lives were filthy with domestic wrong, brutalized by war and famine, embittered with the cold of most rigorous winters, their homes and persons loathsome with nameless defilements. They lived on the meat of wild animals, salmon and berries, and their only luxuries, fish eggs and dried seaweed, were had in trade from the Tsimpshians. Every spring the whole population migrated to the neighboring Nass river, where they caught vast quantities of the oolachan or candle-fish, to be boiled down for oil. This oil was never too rank for food, and besides being lavished for toilet purposes, was a valuable commodity in trade.

Mr. Hankin came among them for trade. Many good people, especially missionaries and historians, have a prejudice that the trader brings wholesale ruin among such a people. But in this instance at least the natives could no more be spoiled than a bad egg, and the trader was the best friend they ever had. He became little less than a god among them, and his word controlled them more firmly than the Canadian government has done. His second post was not on the old site, but in the midst of an expanse of fine timber about half a mile up the Skeena and on the south bank. Close by on the lower side was the village of Gitamaksh, but Mr. Hankin induced the people to move to a better site a little further up stream. After the day's business was done and he had had dinner, he found time to go among the people and preached out of doors sermons that cut them to the heart. But better, he was honest in business; and the Gitkhians looked upon that as little less than miraculous. By a little medicine too he found a sure way to their hearts, and the magic potency of castor oil and epsom salts have made those potions to this day a valued luxury. An Indian will simulate any pain or sickness for castor oil, and a sore eye or a cut finger is a claim for a dose that must not be slighted if you would be his "friend." Matters still further improved when Mr. Hankin returned with his young bride from a trip to Victoria and that lady entered with zest into the teaching of the children and the holding of church services. It was an example of Christianity introduced without whiskey, and had the work continued the Gitkhians would not now be a heathen people.

During an absence of Mr. Hankin the native village was destroyed by fire, and all houses that escaped, especially the trading post, were in danger of being burnt also to make things even. A petition to the provincial government was answered by a large present to the Indians to help them to rebuild their homes.

Some canoes freighting supplies to Mr. Hankin at Hazleton, some four years before, had made their noon halt at the village of Gitzequela (People of the Surprising Mountain). But the place was deserted at the time, every member of the tribe being away hunting. The travellers made their fires to windward of the village, and after they had dined and smoked their pipes, set off again. Of all the ripples on the Skeena the "Dead Place," opposite to the village, is the most perilous and the two immediately above, the "Splashing Place," and the "Bee's Nest" are little better. So that for two miles all hands were fully occupied, and it was not until mid afternoon that looking back they saw the fire and smoke of the burning village that went up to heaven like a volcanic eruption. The freight was duly delivered at Hazleton and the freighters on their return saw as their canoes shot like arrows down the current that Gitzequela was a black ruin, and the people brought down from the mountains fearful at the sight of smoke rising in the valley were now mourning loudly over their lost homes. Next there came up the river six more freight canoes, one conveying a constable for the Omineca gold fields. As each of these vessels was towed up into the "Dead Place" the villagers ruthlessly cut the tow rope and the canoes, manned only by their helpless steersmen, turned broadside and shot down into the sluice, packed by deadly rocks and whirlpools. Fortunately no one was killed, and the canoes dropped down to Gitwangak, eight miles below, whence a messenger, the Legale himself, was sent overland to Mr. Hankin.

Mr. Hankin armed enough Indians to fill two large canoes and went down to Gitzeguela. There he found the people frantic and fully determined to avenge their loss upon himself. Leaving his escort behind, he walked into the midst of them unarmed and asked what was the trouble. He was told that he, the first white man who had been among them, had brought in all the others; that he had robbed them of their peace, that his people had burned their town, and that they were thirsty for blood. Morlaghan, the head chief, came to his side and offered to die with him. "All right," said Mr. Hankin, as he sat down on a rock and took out his note book and pencil, "if you must kill me I'll write a line to my wife." When he had written a short note with great deliberation he handed it to one of the most hostile of the Indians, then he began to talk. He began by explaining that they were all fools, and before he had finished persuaded them that he was their dearest and best friend. After an affectionate parting, emphasized, however, by a salute of rifle balls that made his canoe leak rather badly, Mr. Hankin proceeded to look up his detained canoes at Gitwangak, whence the freight was all packed quietly overland. Mr. Hankin reported the matter to the government and obtained for the Gitzeguela people most liberal help in building a new village. That is the way to treat Indians.

A rumor, however, found its way to Victoria that Mr. Hankin had been killed; and besides the assistance sent, in the demonstration by a gunboat in the inlet mightily impressed all the Indians. When any mutual unpleasantness takes place between white people and Indians the government sends a gunboat to injure, and in the course of enquiry the offending villages are apt to be blown to pieces. It requires a certain amount of emphasis to impress any fact upon them that is worth knowing.

Shortly after this a certain Mr. Youmans, a miner, started an opposition shop at Hazelton and then the population was again increased by the coming of the pioneer missionary. He was a very pious young man, a shining example for four whole months. But, alas, he fell from grace, for Mr. Youmans wanted a clerk and bought the missionary for three times his stipend, after which again the reverend gentleman turned miner. Very strange are the vicissitudes of the godly in this evil world.

Since that time many missionaries have worked in the valley, one indeed in nearly every village; but the Gitkshians are heathens up to the present time (1889). Mr. Hankin took to farming, but ultimately died of typhoid fever in the Skeena inlet in 1884, being at that time manager of a salmon cannery. The Hudson's Bay Company again started a post at Hazelton, and the Indians have been busy ever since making things unpleasant for the agent. In May, 1884, Mr. Youmans was murdered at the door of his store in vengeance by the father for the drowning in the Kitzelas canyon of a young lad who had been in his service.

Some awful tragedies have happened in the Skeena river. The sloop Sarah Tudor, carrying freight up the river for the Hudson's Bay Company, was by mismanagement capsized in the "Dead Place" at Gitzequela, and seven men drowned. In Kitselas canyon six men were drowned from one canoe, besides the fatal accident to the boy in Mr. Youmans service. Lastly, Mrs. Cunningham, the Rev. Mr. Sheldon and two Indian boys were drowned in the inlet in February of last year, while attempting to cross from Point Lambert to the North channel or slough. The canoe split from overpressure on the sail during a squall, and filled and turned over. The only survivor, an Indian lad, said that one of the Indians drowned had secured a place of comparative safety, but seeing Mr. Sheldon in need, resigned the hold to him and quietly perished.

There are now six canning establishments on the inlet and eight missions in the upper and lower valleys, and all are prospering greatly. H. R. A. POCOCK.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

The Usual Budget of Interesting Sporting Events.

The echoes of the last game between the Amities and Kamloops are still alive. The merits and demerits of the game are a favorite theme each evening on the streets.

BASE BALLISTS KICKING.

A Vancouver paper says it is stated that the members of the Kamloops baseball club are consulting a legal luminary with regard to collecting their salaries, which are in arrears.

PISCATORIAL.

Messrs. Brown and White, of Victoria and Vancouver, probably eclipsed the record fishing at Harrison Lake, or rather in the Chehalis River, on Friday. In four hours they hooked up 150 fish, six pounds and less in weight each.

LADIES AT LAWN TENNIS.

A lawn tennis tournament is to be held this week in Vancouver. There are a dozen society ladies entered for it.

FOOTBALL.

A game of football was played at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon, by members of the Islanders' Association Football club. Sides were chosen by Messrs. Miller and Northcote. After a hard-fought game it was found that Northcote's team had won, securing four goals to three made by their opponents. Prof. Foster displayed great skill and deserves considerable credit for the manner in which he kept goal for the winning team. The Islanders are getting down to work and before long hope to hear from some other Association club. Every member is requested to turn out for practice at Beacon Hill on Tuesday evening at 6:30 p. m. sharp.

LACROSSE.

According to report, the Royal City team do not intend to accept the challenge sent from the Capital to play here on Saturday afternoon. The Capitals accommodated the Westminster team at a very great inconvenience to them, by going and playing in the Royal City a short while ago, with seven of their best players short, and it seems singular that the return match cannot be played to suit the home team. It is to be hoped that the return match will come off on Saturday, otherwise the Royal City team will probably not have another chance at the Capitals again this season.

RAILWAY EXTENSION.

Proposals for the Extension of the E & N. Railway Northward.

From the Nanaimo Free Press.]

Proposals, we understand, are in progress looking towards the extension of the present Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway from Nanaimo to Seymour Narrows, and ultimately to the northern end of Vancouver Island. Preliminary exploratory surveys of the country lying to the north have been made, with the result that a feasible and practicable route was mapped out. Exactly what scope these proposals will take are not yet made public, but no doubt will be submitted to the provincial legislature at its next session. The construction of a railway for the entire length of this island would certainly open up to settlement the extensive tracts of arable land that are known to exist in the valleys of the numerous streams that find their way from the middle range of the mountains down to the salt water on the east coast. It would also be the means of enabling the country to be more successfully prospected for minerals and the other varied natural resources of the Island. In addition to this it would be the highway of travel to the northern coast of British Columbia and the neighboring territory of Alaska. While it is most desirable that the extremes of this island should be connected with bands of steel, and all fair and reasonable assistance given to effect that end, still in giving such assistance the rights of the public should be jealously guarded. It is to be desired that those proposals may be in such a form as will meet with the approval of the people and the legislature, and speedily lead to the commencement and completion of this suggested arterial highway.

OKANAGAN NOTES.

Mr. S. D. Pope, Superintendent of Education, made a trip through this part of the interior, visiting the schools the latter part of August.

It is with feelings of sorrow that we chronicle the death of Mr. Thos. Greenwood, who died early on the morning of the 11th inst. He was borne to his last resting place on Wednesday. A large number of friends of the deceased followed the coffin to the grave. He leaves a sorrowing wife and a young family.

Considerable threshing has been done and the yield is about up to the average notwithstanding the dry summer. The price of wheat, it is thought, will be a little higher this season.

If the artesian wells prove a success here, the Okanagan country with its hundreds of thousands of acres could supply the whole of British Columbia with breadstuffs, fruit, etc. Strangers are delighted with the splendid crops of grain and fruit, with its healthy climate and excellent fishing and hunting.—COM.

A Hundred Dollar Break.

While one of the large 7 feet by 12 panes of British plate glass was being put into the "Westside" to-day it was accidentally broken completely across. This misfortune will occasion a delay of some weeks in finishing the front, as a new plate can only be procured at Birmingham, Eng. The value of a whole plate laid down here is something over $100.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

A Proposal to Declare Paris in a State of Siege—Congo Railway.

Terry's Slayer Discharged—Statue to General Grant—Mrs. Langtry's Divorce.

By Postal Telegraph.]

Toronto, Sept. 16.—The Canadian Pacific's line from London to Windsor and its Detroit extension will be opened by the end of the year, when through trains from Chicago to St. John will be run. It will connect particularly with the Wabash system, and will have a tendency to increase the speed of trans-continental trains. Before the C. P. R. was built the average speed of trans-continental trains was 19 1 3 miles per hour. Now the speed is raised to between 25 and 27 miles per hour.

VOTERS' LISTS.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Up to Thursday last the preliminary lists for 92 electoral districts have been printed and returned to the revising officers. Instructions were given for the first issue of those of the more distant constituencies such as in Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Manitoba.

Three teams of heavy draught horses have been forwarded to the experimental farm at Agassiz, B.C.

WIGGINS KNEW IT WELL.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Prof. Wiggins states he was fully aware a tidal wave was due on the Atlantic coast one of these days. It was caused by the occultation of the planet Jupiter by the moon. His reason for preserving silence in regard to the event was that he did not wish to cause a stampede from the seaside, thus injuring business.

FORGERY AT LARGE.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Extensive forgeries have been discovered to-day on the Merchants Bank of Halifax and the Banque Nationale. The forgeries were committed by Duncan Campbell, jr., who absconded on Thursday, leaving debts amounting to about $20,000 behind him.

GENEROUS STRIKERS.

London, Sept. 16.—The strikers who are returning to work have agreed to allow the four thousand men hired by the dock companies during the strike to continue work unmolested.

MORE OF THE STRIKE.

London, Sept. 16.—Most of the strikers resumed work this morning, and it is expected work on the docks will be in full swing to-morrow. About 1,000 idle dock laborers are waiting at the gates of the docks. They threaten violence against the men who were employed to take the strikers' places, and who the directors of the dock companies refuse to discharge.

A JUDGE SPEAKS.

At the opening of the Old Bailey court to-day, the recorder in charging the grand jury, referred to the recent strike in London. He said that though a great number of men had been out of work for weeks, and had suffered great privations, there was not a single case on the calendar arising from the strike. The peaceful behavior of the men, he declared, was a subject for national pride.

IRELAND'S NEW VICEROY.

London, Sept. 16.—Zetland, appointed viceroy of Ireland to succeed the Marquis of Londonderry, will take the oath of office at Dublin Castle, October 1st. The new viceroy will make his entry into Dublin December 1st.

TO BREAK A RING.

London, Sept. 16.—The Manchester master and operatives cotton spinners have decided to endeavor to break down the cotton rings in Liverpool by working half time during this month.

TO CLOSE IN OCTOBER.

Paris, Sept. 16.—It is now definitely decided that the exposition will not remain open beyond the time originally set. In response to public appeals from many quarters for the postponement of of the time for closing, the directors yesterday announced that the exhibition must close October 31.

ANOTHER BLOW-UP.

Paris, Sept. 16.—An explosion occurred to-day in a foundry on the Rue Papineau, belonging to M. Corvillain, an Antwerp manufacturer, at whose factory in that city a disastrous explosion took place. At the time of the explosion the employees in the foundry were engaged in melting bullets which had been extracted from a quantity of old cartridges that had been purchased. Several men were slightly injured.

STATUE TO GRANT.

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 16—The statue of General Grant was unveiled here Saturday with impressive ceremonies. There was an enormous influx of visitors from the surrounding country. The occasion was observed as a holiday in this city.

THE STORM OVER.

New York, Sept. 16.—The storm is over. Last night it went south to Florida. The winds have now diminished along the coast.

DIVORCED.

New York, Sept. 16.—It is stated this morning that cables have been received from London which leave no reasonable doubt that Mrs. Langtry has at last secured a divorce.

FOR HONOLULU.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—The U. S. steamer Iroquois sailed for Honolulu last night.

INDICTMENTS FOUND.

New York, Sept. 16.—The grand jury to-day examined witnesses and papers in the Hamilton case, and afterwards found two indictments, one for grand larceny, and the other for conspiracy, against the latter, Mrs. Swinton, Joseph Mann and Eva Hamilton. The indictments were handed to the court of general session, and Mrs. Swinton and Mann will probably be called upon to plead this afternoon.

GREAT FIRE IN MELBOURNE.

Melbourne, Sept. 16.—George's Emporium and the adjacent building burned to-day. The loss is £100,000. Three firemen were killed.

A BUFFALO STRIKE.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—Two hundred men have gone out on strike at the New York Central railway freight house. The trouble is over a question of pay, and unless it is settled to-day it threatens to spread through all branches of trade in this city.

BOODLER REPENTS.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Johnnie Lonegan, one of the Cook county boodle commissioners, who was indicted in 1886, and skipped to Canada, gave himself up to-day and says he is ready for trial.

TWO ON A JURY.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The Cronin trial was resumed this morning with two jurymen partially accepted. The defence have exhausted fifty-three and the state twenty-four of peremptory challenges.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOOTH.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The much talked of vacancy in the general land office has at last been filled. The President signed the commission of Lewis A. Groff, of Omaha, to be commissioner of the general land office, vice S. M. Stockslager, resigned. After appointing Judge Groff the President gave some time to answering personal letters and dictating to his stenographer. He was suffering severely with an aching tooth and finally obliged to give up public to attend to private affairs.

ODD FELLOWS MEET.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 16.—The Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Patriarch's Militant Convention convened this morning. The meeting is to last throughout the week. Visiting delegates are being met at the train in a pouring rain. Delegates are present from every state and territory in the Union, British Columbia, Denmark, Canada and Manitoba. Speeches were made this morning by Governor Forsker and Mayor Buck of this city.

PARIS IN A FERMENT.

A State of Siege Liable to be Proclaimed Next Sunday.

Paris, Sept. 16.—The Minister of the Interior wavers in the plan of declaring this city in a state of siege during the elections next Sunday, but it is not at all likely that such a scheme will be carried out. The cabinet is to meet to-morrow and will probably reject the project at once. Boulanger's election addresses were posted in the city late on Saturday and they were allowed to remain up all day yesterday undisturbed by gendarmes notwithstanding that violent measures against Boulanger were recently taken by the government. This sort of uncertainty makes the election a puzzle.

NEAGLE DISCHARGED.

Judge Sawyer Says the Killing of Terry was Justifiable.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—U. S. Circuit Judge Sawyer this morning decided that the federal court had jurisdiction in the case of U. S. Deputy Marshal Neagle, charged with the murder of David Terry, and that the shooting of the latter was justifiable and discharged Neagle from custody. The decision covers sixty-six pages of type written matter.

Attorney Langhorne, for the State, gave notice of appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Judge Sawyer then ordered the prisoner released upon his own recognizance, with bonds at $5,000.

THE CONGO RAILWAY.

The Prospectus for This Gigantic Undertaking Issued.

London, Sept. 16.—The Congo Railroad project is on the high road to realization. A prospectus has just been published for an issue of 20,000 shares at £20 each of the road's capital stock. The entire capital is £25,000,000. Ten million pounds sterling is divided as follows: Twenty million francs in capital shares subscribed by the Belgian government, giving the right to 3 1-2 per cent. dividend and redeemable at 500 francs, in 13,000 shares of 500 francs, giving the right to 7 per cent. dividend, redeemable at 1000 francs and entitled to supplementary dividend at the rate of 50 per cent. of the remaining devisable profits. Ordinary shares redeemed will be replaced by (Jouissance) shares entitling holders to participate in dividend asked in article 40 of the statutes.

J. F. Smith, appointed to the position of teacher of the 5th division of the boys' school by the trustees, is a teacher of long experience, he having taught in the province for 14 years. D. E. Brown, general freight and passenger agent, C. P. R., is in the city. He reports business on the railway as unusually brisk. The carrying trade of British Columbia is constantly augmenting, while the passenger traffic is larger than the management anticipated.

Cowichan Lake.

Gold of sensational quality has been found by an Indian near the head of the lake, and Messrs. Lomas and Duncan (of Duncan's) have gone up to prospect.

List of visitors to the Hotel: Messrs. Macintyre and Heivit, of Victoria, arrived yesterday; Mr. and Mrs. Pershouse left yesterday for Victoria, en route for England; Capt. and Mrs. Wardroper have gone to Victoria; Col. Hooper, of H. M. Indian army, has spent a fortnight here. The Col. is charmed with the scenery and has taken many photographs. He took fifteen pounds of nice trout with the fly his first evening, but the late frosts have rather spoiled sport. He has also taken six fine salmon, and Capt. Wardroper caught three on his way down.

There are great numbers of salmon here now, and the trout also are beginning to swarm and will take well, if we get a return of mild weather.

Mr. Wm. Sutton and party made a short stay.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—It has leaked out that friends of Erastus Wiman, of Commercial Union fame, have decided to secure for him a seat in the Dominion parliament if he will accept.

FLYERS COMING.

Calgary, Sept. 16.—The Alberta races closed on Saturday. The horses Silver Tail Bob and White and Grey Eagle leave for the coast this week to take part in races at New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

Rapid City, Sept. 10—A sad accidental shooting affair occurred here last night in which Charlie Norris, a boy of 12 years of age, met his death. A gun in the hands of Albert Basler, a boy 15 years old, was accidentally discharged, the charge lodging in Charlie's right side, just above the thigh. The unfortunate boy died this evening after a night and day of great agony.

ON HIS WAY WEST.

Lord Stanley and Suite Pass Through Ottawa by Special Car.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, Sept. 16—Lord Stanley arrived here to-day by a special train per C. P. R. at 4 o'clock, and will have dinner to-night at Captain Colville's cottage at Rideau hall, owing to Government house being under repairs. His Excellency and suite leaves for the west and the Pacific Coast at noon to-morrow.

VANCOUVER.

The Printers in the World Office go out on Strike.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—The compositors in the evening World office went out on strike this morning, in consequence of a disagreement with the management. There are two sides to the story. Mr. McLagan, the proprietor and editor of the World, says that the strikers are acting contrary to the rules of the union and he complains that no previous notice was given him of the proposed walk out. The printers are understood to have a grievance, but I have been unable to get an official statement of what it is. Unsuccessful overtures were made to-day for a settlement. There will be no issue of the World to-night, but it is expected that enough men will be secured for to-morrow, when the paper will appear as usual.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

Contracts Awarded for Surrey Dyke and Fraser River Channel.

Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Sept. 16.—T. F. Sinclair, of Port Haney, has been awarded the contract for channel improvements at the mouth of the Fraser river. He will commence operations, building mattresses, to-morrow.

The contract for building the Surrey dyke has been awarded to Bradshaw & Lemon for $9,000. Work will be commenced at once from both ends. The dyke will extend from the highlands on the east side of the Serpentine river to the dam at the mouth, and from the dyke west of the Nickomekla river bridge to the mouth of that stream, thence along the bay front to the Serpentine. The contractors will employ 40 white men and 150 Chinamen, 10 teams of horses and two tugs.

The steamer Lakme arrived in port today from Port Townsend with fire brick and clay for the McLaren-Ross Lumbering Co. When the cargo is unloaded the Lakme will clear for Skeena river to load salmon for Astoria.

PUGET SOUND SPECIALS.

Alaska Salmon Pack—The Tournament—Corner in Bricks.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Tacoma, Sept. 16.—Fifteen hose teams have arrived and by to-night it is expected twenty-five will be here.

A convention of visiting firemen was held to-day, at which many matters of interest to firemen were discussed.

There is much speculation as to who will win the principal event to-morrow. Salem is one of the favorites.

THE ALASKA PACK.

San Francisco, Sept. 16—The Alaska salmon pack for this year is 321,000 cases at a close estimate.

CORNER IN BRICKS.

Seattle, Sept. 16.—Speculators have effected a corner in bricks, which have gone up to eighteen dollars per thousand. Much building is stopped in consequence.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

Tacoma, Sept. 16—It is reported a company has been formed to construct an electric railway between Tacoma and Seattle.

A Terrible Nuisance.

The carcasses of two dead horses polute the vicinity of Ross Bay cemetery with a terrible smell. Should the names of the parties who caused them to be left there come to the knowledge of the provincial police, the chances are that a charge will be laid, which in all probability would end in a heavy fine being imposed. Just why people will dump such stuff where it will be a nuisance is hard to understand, especially burying the defunct equines is not much of a bother. A severe lesson taught in the courts will perhaps put a stop to this evil.

PRECEPT AND PRACTICE.

Our aged morning contemporary is generally as full of precept as a copy book. Its practice and its precepts, however, are two separate and distinct things. The other morning, in one column we find a half a yard of precept on "calling names", the moralizing editor very properly inculcating that "calling names is a childish practice." In the next column to this we recognize the practice of this contemporary of ours. We are shocked to discover that that respectable body of men throughout this province, who are opposed to the present dishonest government, are referred to as "the wretched and hopeless opposition." That is surely calling names, and very hard names, too. Dr. JEKYL and Mr. HYDE again, says the reader, and at first sight it does look as though we had discovered another example of this human monstrosity. But let us candidly express the opinion that in this case one column was edited by the everyday editor, while the other is the handiwork of "Honest John." Hence our contemporary personifies in itself the qualities of Dr. JEKYL and Mr. HYDE to perfection.

"THE GOOD THINGS GOING."

Those who are really guilty are usually unsparing of their breath in declaring their innocence, and so the political matin disclaiming the charge of bribery which lately appeared in the James Bay organ may be reckoned a tacit confession of guilt. We are reminded in fact of the criminal who, closely pursued by an officer of the law, bawls as loudly as anybody, "stop thief!" However, we need not dwell on this unfortunate habit of the Colonist. We leave it to the mercy of the discriminating public. We may say to our contemporary, however, that bribing does not consist wholly in exchanging money for votes. Promises are bribes; they can be construed in no other way, and the phrase, "the good things going," is peculiarly susceptible of a venal interpretation. "The good things going" is simply immense. What it does not contain as implying a division of the political flesh pots is not worth mentioning. There are political spoils in it of every description. We should not be surprised if the chief of the provincial policeship was in it; while as to the snaps in the shape of contracts the phrase fairly bristles with them. If the phrase does not convey ingratitude, then we would advise the maker of it to cease addressing electors as he would a Sunday school. We have heard the expression used by Sunday school orators in relation to picnics as an incentive to good attendance, "the good things" meaning cake, ice cream, etc. Language, though, which is pertinent to Sunday school picnics is not always relevant when applied to electors. It is of the flesh, fleshy, of politics, the essence of plunder, and the lowest bid not necessarily accepted. We would suggest to the coiner of the phrase in question that if he would avoid the inconvenience of being misunderstood that he diligently refrain from using such phrases in future in conjunction with the political situation in Lillooet.

SOCIALISM.

In regard to the socialist movement, which is now going on throughout the world, it is a little remarkable that of all the leading writers on the subject none of them speak except in a pessimistic strain. None of them seem to see much light ahead. Ingenuity is baffled. It seems to be the general feeling that unless something of an extraordinary and unlooked for character transpires, a condition little short of anarchy is inevitable at a no distant date. One writer has to say: "A happy go lucky spirit predominates in our social and civil affairs. We have no class of educated statesmen devoted to the public welfare, and fearlessly expounding the dangers and the resources of their countrymen. All sails set and not a bushel of ballast, we are careering over the waters that may soon be convulsed with storms, and rarely do we consult charts and take our bearings." Says another, despairing of the situation: "The sovereign power nominally in the hands of all, will be effectually in the hands of the few, who will combine, intrigue, lie and fight to engross it to themselves. The idle, the ambitious and the needy will band together to break the hold the law has upon them, and then to get hold of the law. Our country is too big for union, too sordid for patriotism, too democratic for liberty." But the strongest denouncement we have seen is that of the Rev. Father BARLY in the Nineteenth Century. This distinguished Roman Catholic writer arraigns the social order as a "Belshazzar's Feast." It is judged and found wanting, because "divorced from the spirit of the time." He is convinced, he says, "that society must undergo a transformation or perish; and that it is on this account that every thoughtful observer must wish religion would take up the far-reaching problem of the distribution of wealth, the relation of physical science to the prosperity of the masses; the rights and the wrongs of property; in short, the whole question of civilization on its human and social side." All roads lead to Rome. It is rapidly becoming a fact that all problems, even those which might seem purely scientific, lead to socialism. What right has a believer in CHRIST to live luxuriantly while his brethren are starving on an unjust wage? The sermon on the Mount was not preached in a monastery. It does not condemn civilization, but it does most unequivocally condemn a society the doors of which are open to but golden keys. "It has been argued," continues Father BARRY, "that Dives who does nothing but lounge at the club and spend thousands on his enjoyment is not without his uses; that he points to the rewards of toiling ambition. What place is there for Dives in the kingdom of CHRIST? His attitude towards things above is agnostic, towards things around him scepticism, towards things beneath him cynicism. Cynically he buys with money not earned by him, the labor of the workingman's son, the purity of the workingman's daughter. He will reply it is a free bargain, both are willing to sell. Yet when he has wrought his will on them, he flings the son to the workhouse, the daughter to the streets or the hospital. Let those who are not ashamed to call themselves Christians ponder over these things. They say they believe in the living CHRIST. When will they open their eyes and judge the 19th century and their place in it as he did the first? Or will they rather imitate the high rulers of two hundred years ago, and neglect or persecute social science?" This is a strong arraignment, too strong. It is, nevertheless, the tendency of the times. But the most curious feature of the movement is the attitude toward the churches of the socialistic organizations themselves. Twenty years ago European workmen associations, including those of England, were largely agnostic, and even offensively atheistic. But a change has taken place. The workmen of every country are now arraigning the churches on Scriptural grounds, accusing the clergy of all denominations of having forgotten the essential teachings of Christ, of having neglected to use their influence for the purpose of promoting social reforms and of having compromised with the wealthy in the pews. Instead of reviling Christianity as they once did, the workingmen throughout the world now hold their doctrines to be more truly Christian than those of conventional Christianity. The question to be considered, remarks the Globe, is whether out of these manifestations will come a new church, or whether the existing churches will take heed to the signs of the times, as Father BARRY counsels his church to do, throw themselves heartily in with the movement for reformation of the industrial system, and in the effort to get existing institutions Christianized, and to assist in developing that new social order for which the soul of the world is craving.

THE CRONIN TRIAL.

While it is probable that the requisite number of idiots will be found to try the CRONIN case, the chances are the venire will have to be extended to South America, or possibly to Central Africa. Latest advices are to the effect that everybody in the State of Illinois has formed an opinion. The true fact of the matter is everybody is afraid to sit on this jury. They are already intimidated by the Clan-na-Gael on one side and public opinion on the other. If they find against the prisoner, assassination awaits them; if they find for him they must face an angry public. This, no doubt, is the true state of the case and in the history of criminal jurisprudence it probably has no parallel. If the Clan-na Gael will consult their best interests and that of Ireland, they will demand an impartial trial of BURKE and his co-conspirators. They will demand that the men who sit on this jury shall do their duty. The Clan-na-Gael, in a word, will demand to be vindicated. If scoundrels have been admitted into the society it is to the interests of the society, as well as that of the public, that they be exposed and punished. The Clan-na-Gael cannot withstand adverse public opinion in the states, the idea once having taken root that assassination is their game. An organization powerful enough to intimidate jurors is a menance to any government, anarchy in fact may be said to have set in. It will be said perhaps, that there has been no intimidation of jurors. It is hardly necessary to point out that until the Clan-na-Gael vindicate themselves they are a standing menace to independent citizenship. The Clan now have placed themselves under the ban of suspicion as assassins, and unless they can prove to the contrary, their uprooting and extermination as an organization will be necessitated on the part of the United States as a measure of self protection.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Vancouver World says: "The opposition of the Victoria City Council to this tax, (the special school tax on cities) so equitable and so fair, is unaccountable. It is to be hoped the government will win." There was a time, and not so very long ago, when the World writer thought differently, and wrote differently, too. But the spider invited the fly into his net and the fly went in.

A test was recently made of the quality of the bayonets in the hands of the British troops, and the experts reported that sixty per cent. of the weapons were totally unfit for use. The English are fortunate in making that discovery in time of peace. The French, under the sham government of LOUIS NAPOLEON, made similar discoveries after their war with the Germans had actually begun. It was a pretty costly experience for them and for their government.

San Francisco Argonaut: No possession of Great Britain has made greater strides during the last twenty years than the Dominion of Canada, whether in development of resources, trade, wealth, population or whatever tends to the strength and prosperity of a new country. At the same time, the undeveloped resources of Canada are enormous and are scarcely realized as yet.

Mr. C. A. COLDWELL, who is in charge of the British Columbia exhibit at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, telegraphs that his corner in the large building is the great centre of attraction to the Ontario visitors. The display of fruit attracts all comers, and elicits loud praise from the most competent judges. The horticultural products, and the display of the "preserved" crop from the "sea farm," have helped to open the eyes of the eastern people to a few of the great resources of British Columbia. One thousand dollars expended on an exhibit of this kind will be of more advantage to the province than five thousand frittered away in immigration literature, agents, etc.

THOMAS A. EDISON, in a recent talk about his phonograph, said: For seven months I worked from 18 to 20 hours a day upon the single sound "specia." I would say to the instrument "specia", and it would always say "pecia", and I couldn't make it say anything else. It was enough to make me crazy. But I stuck to it until I succeeded, and now you can read a thousand words of a newspaper at the rate of 150 words a minute, and the instrument will repeat them to you without an omission. You can imagine the difficulty of the task that I accomplished when I tell you that the impressions made upon the cylinder are not more than one-millionth part of an inch in depth, and are completely invisible, even with the aid of a microscope.

If women are still denied votes in Great Britain they are surely and not slowly gaining other and more substantial privileges. The new civil service rules extend the sphere of women. Their employment in the post office has proved satisfactory, and now the copyists of the various departments are to be done away with and women typewriters will take their places. Even the Foreign Office, the most exclusive of the departments, will soon welcome the sweet girl graduate and the trained type writer. If American experience repeats itself in England the effect upon British foreign policy may be awful to contemplate.

From one who was aboard the British warship Howe during the recent manœuvres, in what is described as a "fearful night" on board that battle ship, it is said that, ill ventilated at best, the exigencies of the war game and the stormy character of the weather prevented the fans from working, while every cranny through which light might stream was closed. As a result, the atmosphere was positively thick. Under such conditions the result could hardly be otherwise, without ventilating fans, with the heat and grease fumes from the engine room, and the exhalations from a floating population, crew and officers all told, of between 500 and 600 souls pent up below decks. Many of the marines and the new hands among the blue jackets, it is said, suffered terribly from seasickness. Lord Chas. Beresford says that a year's continuous life in a torpedo boat would ruin the finest organization in the world. If so, it is asked, how long will it take to impair the physique of seamen and officers destined to serve in ships like the Howe and the Rodney?

The Nanaimo Free Press, which is a government organ like the World, but more independent and therefore more honest in the expression of its views, is opposed to the special tax for school purposes on cities. The Free Press says: "From the day the measure was first introduced in the Local Assembly, the Free Press has contended, aside from the legality of the question, that the demand or imposition was manifestly unfair, and travelled over or very close to the line of dual and discriminating taxation. The legal aspect of the demand will now receive judicial consideration and the proceedings will be watched with considerable interest by the citizens of Victoria and Nanaimo, who, through their representatives, have decided to contest the payment of what they deem a most unjust and unfair tax upon the inhabitants of the four cities of the province. The principal ground of contention is that the provincial parliament has neither the right nor the power to compel a man, because he happens to reside within corporate limits, to pay more towards the support of the schools, than his neighbor who lives just outside the city boundary.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

The Dominion Rifle Association and the British Columbia Contingent.

Hon Mackenzie Bowell in Manitoba—Ministers Returning Home.

From Our Own Correspondent.]

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 8.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle association, which was going on all week and came to a close on Friday afternoon, was the most successful that has yet taken place by the society. In point of entries it far exceeded any of the past meetings; in regard to attendance of spectators, both from the city and distance, the number was much larger than is usually the case, and in respect to shooting nothing in the past equalled it. All these combined go to show that the Dominion Rifle association is an institution which has found public favor, not only with the marksmen of the Dominion, but the people generally, and that deservedly so. A better location for the grounds, right on the banks of the Rideau river, and close to the city, could not be found. The camping ground is excellent, and a majority of riflemen lived under canvas for the week. Every facility to do so is at hand. If the marksmen do not belong to a corps like the Queen's Own, 6th Fusileers or the like, who have their own mess, he can board with the general caterer, who has ample means of giving good meals as cheaply as can be had at any of the hotels in the city. In this way a little pleasure may be combined with a week's shooting from the butts at Ottawa. All the provinces were officially represented, with the exception of British Columbia. The latter province was, however, well represented, and in proportion to their number did better than any of the other provinces, but because the chief organization to which they belong in the province did not choose a team to represent them here the four New Westminster men appeared in their individual capacity. I think they called themselves a New Westminster team. At any rate they had no love towards some of the riflemen in Victoria, who not only thwarted the idea of sending a team to Ottawa, but who here that the men who did come were not eligible to shoot. The executive of the Dominion Association very properly ignored the dispatch and not only allowed the boys from the western province an opportunity to shoot but extended them the right hand of fellowship and every kindness due to men who had come so far to show their appreciation of such an association. It is hinted that Col. Prior, M. P., was one of those, if not the principal one, who objected to allowing the men to shoot here. Surely Mr. Prior does not consider that he is the only one entitled to travel from Victoria, British Columbia, to Ottawa, at the public expense, to represent the province! At all events, if he were as successful in securing for the militia men of British Columbia an expenditure of that public money which justly belongs to them for new buildings, etc., as the New Westminster men were in making bulls eyes at the meeting just closed of the D. R. A., he would have done nobly. But while Col. Prior is a ready witness to testify to the just and generous way that Sir Adolphe Caron treats the militia—as he was last session when summarily called to support the minister of militia in giving out contracts for bad clothing at fabulous prices—much cannot be expected of him. No, Colonel, make a target of the minister, stand up for your militia men and provinces, and then, and not till then, will you get justice done British Columbia.

RETURNING HOME.

Sir John Macdonald has returned to the city, and in a few days the political machine will be in full swing. Sir John Thompson has also come back from a visit to Nova Scotia, and Mr. Foster will be here in a few days. As is usually the case the return of the Premier is the signal for all his lieutenants to be on hand without delay. In addition to the important work of the various departments, which are considerably in arrears, the premier will have all that he can do to cut out the work for the next session of parliament, and in his spare moments to delight over the best way of getting the rebellious section of his party pacified. Sir John Macdonald would be equal to all this, but Sir John Thompson will permit of no hedging. The Minister of Justice is steadily making things worse instead of better. That speech delivered at Quebec by His Excellency and prepared by Sir John Thompson was an unfortunate calamity. None the less so was that so called reference to Imperial law officers of the crown, as to whether Lord Stanley acted rightly or no. This was a miserable subterfuge unworthy of a man like Sir John Thompson, or for that of anybody else. If the Minister of Justice and the government have nothing to fear, let them permit the case to go before the Supreme Court and Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and whatever the result may be, no one will grumble. That is the only way that the matter can be fairly settled.

HALDIMAND AGAIN.

It would appear that we are going to have another election in Haldimand, before the next session of parliament. At any rate, things look in that way at present. The protest of the return of Mr. Colter, who has had only one session in the house to represent the constituency, is now being tried in Toronto. Proceedings in the case were first commenced at Cayuga.

THE FAIRS.

On Monday afternoon the second annual fair of the Canada Central exhibition opens under most favorable circumstances. To establish a good exhibition to compete with such fairs as those held at Toronto, London and Hamilton takes considerable money and lots of hard work. Last year the exhibition was a success, but so much money had to be expended in new buildings and fixing up the grounds that it was found necessary to ask a further grant from the corporation. The entries thus far assure the success of the meeting, although Toronto will be going on at the same time.

BEHRING SEA SEIZURES.

I have frequently conversed with Hon. C. H. Tupper, minister of marine and fisheries, during the past week as to the Behring Sea seizures and from what I could gather the government of Canada is as destitute of information as to the intentions of Great Britain and the United States as the people of Victoria are. I am also afraid that no real protest against this system of piracy on the high seas has been forwarded from Ottawa to the Colonial Office. Like Micawber, Sir John Macdonald is waiting to see what will turn up next. Time has taken him out of many difficulties, and he trusts much to time in this case.

SMUGGLING.

For some time past the amount of smuggling carried on between the United States and Canada across the southern boundary of Manitoba has increased to extraordinary dimensions. The customs office and patrol system have been entirely powerless to put a stop to the bringing in of smuggled goods. With a view of devising some means towards this end Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and assistant Commissioner Parmalee have left to make a full enquiry into the whole matter. The minister and his commissioner may have a good holiday, but that they will be able to prevent smuggling across the border, which is wholly unprotected, no one contemplates. Our present tariff is a piece of robbery at any rate and no one seems to think that there is much dishonesty in trying to evade it. Reciprocity is what Canada wants.

OUR GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Lord Stanley is expected here in a few days. Government house is being renovated from top to bottom, and consequently His Excellency will stay in his private car. After transacting some business here, probably remaining for a day or two, he will go west. STANROWN.

YOUNG ENGLAND

To Find Home and Fortune in Fair Canada.

The Rev. Thomas Turner, the celebrated divine of the important parish of St. Swithen's, London, arrived in the city yesterday. He is one of the executive council of the Children's Aid Society, of England, which is composed of the Bishop of London, the Duke of Northumberland, the Duke of Portland and himself. In conversation with a TIMES reporter the Rev. gentleman said: I reached Canada a fortnight ago from London and came straight on to Winnipeg, where I busied myself for some days over the work that I am here for. What is the work? Well, I will tell you. Old England is producing more bone and sinew, more intellect and manhood, than she can well hold. She is getting overcrowded, and, in order to prevent to some degree the misery and want bound to follow on such a state of things if allowed to go on unchecked, we are trying to ease her of some of her surplus population, in short to send many of our youngsters away from their native land for their own good and welfare. All through Great Britain we have innumerable children's homes, where there are collected together the waifs and strays from every part of the United Kingdom who are being taught to become useful men and women. We don't want to hamper their future. Instead of crowding them into a reeking city or a filthy lane we want to give them room to climb the ladder of success and a chance to become in a land like Canada men that it would be impossible for them to become in their own country. I have established a central depot at Winnipeg in charge of a couple, man and wife, that I brought from England with me, and next month as soon as I get back I will send the first batch of lads to him. Farmers in the Winnipeg district are anxious to get these lads. They will be of an age from fourteen to seventeen and will be able to make themselves useful anywhere. I think he shall send forty at first and then more as we get outlets for them.

Mr. Turner, who is an eloquent preacher, intends delivering a lecture on Canada on his return to London next month. He will return home via the Rio Grande Railway and the Atlantic.

SCOTTISH CUTTER.

The Minerva Sweeps Everything Before Her—Wins 7 Out of 9 Races.

The following taken from the Scottish American of August 28th, is something on which the telegraph for some reason has not kept us informed. The Scotch cutter Minerva, designed by Mr. Fife, of Fairlie, continues to maintain the superiority of Clyde cutters over all the centreboard and keel sloops of her size in this country. On Saturday last she added another laurel to her already large wreath of this season, defeating with the greatest ease, and on all points, the crack Burgess-designed flyers Tomahawk and Chiquita, as well as the McVey cutter Alice. Out of nine races in which she started here this season the Minerva has won seven. In some races there have been a dozen starters. In course of these races the Minerva simply "walked away" from all the crack forty-footers of this country, designed by the hitherto considered invincible Burgess.

These victories of the Minerva have now accomplished what the contests for the America's cup failed to do—convinced all unprejudiced yachtsmen here that Scotch cutters are superior to American sloops, whether the latter be fitted with centreboard or keel, for she has beat easily both kinds. In the race on Saturday last, indeed, the Minerva was the only yacht that completed the course in the limited time. Further, these victories of the Minerva have led yachtsmen here seriously to think that the victories of the American centreboard sloops in the recent international contests must have been owing, not to their superiority but to certain casual circumstances, or to the New York Yacht Club's comparative mode of measurement for time allowance.

The press of this country now candidly acknowledge the superiority of the Scotch cutters; and, in particular, the New York Times says: "The victory of the Minerva indicates that the best British seventy-foot cutter would beat our (i.e., American) best without much trouble." Scotland thus stands greatly indebted to the Minerva and to her designer and crew.

The same paper of the 4th inst., says, "Last defeat was a sore and bitter one for American yachtsmen, but we have no desire to crow over them or rub salt in their sores. The fall has been a terrible one and a great awakening they have received." An American contemporary admits that "the Scotch yacht Minerva has been victorious in every race she has entered since she came to America, and yesterday (Thursday last) carried off the Weld cup for "forty footers" with the greatest of ease, although she has had pitted against her the fleetest of the American sailers." The same contemporary farther adds "When contests are stripped of odious conditions and a fair chance, given American craft are not so hard to beat."

In the last race the Chiquita, which was second, was no less than 18 minutes 5 seconds behind. After, all says the Scottish American, the Minerva has just been rubbing in the victories of the Clara and Madge of some few years ago.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Life is not so short but there is always time enough for courtesy.

—Jacob Loeckman, Buffalo, N. Y., says he has been using Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for rheumatism; he had such a lame back he could not do anything, but one bottle has, to use his own expression, "cured him up." He thinks it the best thing in the market.

—He who comes up to his own idea of greatness must always have had a very low standard in his own mind.

—Ample warning is given us by our lungs when they are in danger. If foolhardy enough to neglect the warning signal, we incur imminent peril. Check a cough at the outset with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—which is a sovereign pulmonic—besides being a remedy for soreness, lameness, abrasions of the skin, tumors, piles, rheumatism, etc.

—"Say, ma, a mouse has fallen into the milk." His mother—"Did you take it out?" Boy—"No, I have thrown the cat in."

"The Merry Maiden and the Tar" She was merriest before she "struck" the tar. Her spirits sank as she beheld her new white gown blackened by the tar. The tar helped a wagon run instead of helping run a ship. Just so a thousand trivial accidents and neglected "small things" take the merriment out of the lives of young girls and maidens. Particularly is this the case with diseases peculiar to their sex which take so much enjoyment and happiness from life. However a remedy is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for all female "weaknesses" or irregularities, nervousness, neuralgia, and uterine troubles. Ask your druggist.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti bilious Granules, have no equals. 25 cents a vial; one a dose. Cure headache, constipation and indigestion.

Charged with Theft.

An Indian seal hunter was given in charge of Officer Redgrave to-day, by an Indian who claimed that the arrested man had stolen $56. On the person of the suspect was found $255, rather a tidy sum for an Indian to carry about with him.

Delta Show.

A meeting of the directors of the Delta Agricultural Society was held on Thursday, at which all arrangements for the show to be held on the 1st of October were made. The steamer Adelaide has been chartered to bring exhibits and passengers from New Westminster.

To Receive Citizens.

Mayor Oppenheimer on Friday received a telegram from Hon. E. Dewdney saying that he and Mrs. Dewdney will arrive in Vancouver on Wednesday, and that they would be pleased to receive the citizens at the Hotel Vancouver on Wednesday evening.

To Locate Here.

C. N. Davidson, of the firm of Davidson Bros., watchmakers and jewellers, Vancouver and Calgary, is in Victoria looking out for premises in which to locate a branch store. It is the intention of the firm to close up the Calgary branch, and open here instead, the advantages of Victoria being obvious.

He Turns Up.

The friends in this city of Mr. Eckman will be pleased to learn that he has turned up in San Francisco safe and sound. His absence gave rise to the impression that suicide was probable, but he says urgent business called him away suddenly, so sudden, in fact, that he left his little boy behind in total ignorance of his going.

For Alaska.

The Corona, Capt. Carroll, sailed for Alaska yesterday at noon. Her freight and passenger list were fair. Capt. Carroll did not intend taking the vessel up for certain reasons, and the command had been assigned to Capt. Bennet of the steamer Alki. A telegram requiring the latter captain in San Francisco changed this, however.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the school trustees was held Saturday night. After several minor matters had been disposed of the appointment of a teacher to succeed Miss N. Wolfenden, who has resigned, was considered. After several ballots Mr. J. F. Smith, holding a first-class B certificate, was chosen. The appointment is to the fifth division of the boys' department.

Plank Sidewalks.

Victoria is becoming more and more metropolitan every day, and in view of this fact the need of a better material than plank to build sidewalks with becomes apparent. On the principal streets the wear and tear of traffic soon cuts out planks, which then have to be renewed, making them a constant source of expense. A good concrete walk would never wear out.

Harvest Thanksgiving.

A thanksgiving service will be held in St. Luke's church, Cedar Hill, on Thursday, September 19th, at 3 p.m. A bus (free) will leave Christ Church Cathedral Sunday school at 2 p.m. for Cedar Hill, returning at 5:30 p.m. The sermon will be preached by Rev. G. H. Marwood, Chaplain of H. M. S Swiftsure. After the service there will be refreshments in the Sunday school.

A Worthless Young Man.

Herbert Hutton, under the alias of H. E. Drummond, has been arraigned in the police court at Vancouver charged with the theft of $60 from the till of a hotel. A portion of the money was found in the lining of his coat. It is to this worthless young man that young Ross, now serving four months in gaol here, owes his downfall. On Friday last Chief of Police Sheppard received two letters from England from Hutton's parents, addressed to the young culprit. The Chief's only regret is that Hutton should bring disgrace upon his family, who are of high standing.

Row at a Bagnio.

An energetic row occurred in one of the little houses on the north side of Broad street last night. The place is occupied by a duo of tattered roses, and a man-o'-war's man from the Icarus thought it behooved him to smash things there. So strong was the inclination that he could not resist it, and a smashed door and window to-day bore evidence of his ability to make the splinters fly. The police took a hand, and the festive blue-jacket was taken to the station; but he could not be detained, as the keepers of the house refused to lay an information, and as the offence was committed on private property, the police are powerless to act.

The Ancon's Cargo.

There is a good deal of speculation as to how much of the cargo of the ill-fated Ancon will be saved. At the time she struck it consisted of 13,880 cases and 600 barrels of salmon, and 400 cases of condensed milk. The milk had been ordered by a mining company, but afterward decided that they would not need it. It was placed a little ahead of the centre of the Ancon's hold, and when she broke in two, most of the milk went to sea. The mining company or insurance companies will have to pay for the loss of the milk. The cases and barrels of salmon were loaded in the front and stern end of the Ancon's hold. It is probable none of the salmon will be lost before the Alki reaches the wreck.

A Transposition.

In the letter of "Index," published on Saturday, a quotation from "An Act Respecting Naturalization and Aliens," was unfortunately mixed up, by the transposition of a page, with a portion of the letter with which it had no connection. We have been requested by the writer to place it in its proper connection and repeat the paragraph, as follows:

"Real and personal property of any description may be taken, acquired, held and disposed of by an alien in the same manner, in all respects, as by a natural born British subject; and a title to real and personal property of any description may be derived through, from, or in succession to an alien, in the same manner in all respects as through, from, or in succession to a natural born British subject, but nothing in this section shall qualify an alien for ANY OFFICE, or for any municipal, parliamentary, or other franchise; nor shall anything therein entitle an alien to any right or privilege as a British subject, except such rights and privileges in respect of property as are hereby expressly conferred upon him."

Death of Mrs. Harvey.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Harvey, the wife of Mr. James Harvey, the well known storekeeper of Nanaimo, and daughter of the late Hon. Robt. Dunsmuir. It is remarkable that though one of a very numerous family, only two of her relations are at present in this province. Two of her sisters are on the high seas and will learn of her death when they arrive at Quebec, and it is strange that two of her sisters learned of their father's death which took place a few months ago, at Queenstown, when going to England from Victoria. Typhoid fever is the immediate cause of the lady's death and we regret to say that Mr. Harvey is also dangerously ill from the same causes. Mrs. Dunsmuir and two of her daughters are in Switzerland; Mrs. Snowden and Mrs. Croft are on the Atlantic, and Mr. and Mrs. James Dunsmuir are visiting in North Carolina. Mr. Alex. Dunsmuir, a brother, is at present in Victoria, and Mrs. Bryden, a sister resides at Departure Bay. Mrs. Harvey was the second eldest daughter of the late Mr. Dunsmuir, and was a native of Nanaimo.

FROM THE ORIENT.

Largest Cargo of the Season Brought by the Port Fairy.

The steamship Port Fairy, Capt. Clark, arrived at Vancouver last Saturday afternoon, 10½ days from Yokohama. The trip was marked by strong winds and fogs, and the time made by the vessel consequently slow.

The passenger list was light, comprising six first class passengers and 63 Chinese. The former were Paul Bevan, M. A., A. C. A., Mr. Bond, Mr. Tichell, Alfred East, R. I. A., Mr. Casse, and Mr. Ishijeahs.

The cargo was the largest this season, principally tea, and two cars of silk for New York, making in all 67 cars overland. There were 3,090 packages for the Pacific coast, or 356 tons; 10,056 packages, or 694 tons, for Canada, and 18,438 packages, or 1,438 tons, for the United States. There was also a small consignment for London, Eng.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

A League Formed at Vancouver—Names of Officers Elected.

On Friday night there was a large attendance in the Board of Trade rooms, Vancouver, to organize a local branch of the Imperial Federation League. Mr. R. H. Alexander occupied the chair and explained that the proposed league was intended, not for the purpose of acting upon any definite scheme or yet of promulgating one, but rather to afford a means of forming a nucleus around which could crystallise the sentiment looking towards a closer union of the various parts of the Empire. Imperial Federation was an idea as yet the consummation of which was surrounded by many difficulties. The difficulties were such, however, in his opinion, that a united and general desire could not overcome.

Rev. E. D. McLaren moved, seconded by Mr. J. M. Duval, that a Vancouver branch of the Imperial Federation League be now formed. Mr. McLaren said the object in view was a great and commendable one. The difficulties were grave, and the leaders of the movement had admitted that the deeper they had thought on the question the more difficult the problem had become. Nevertheless, if the desire to overcome difficulties were commensurate with the magnitude of apparent obstacles, the experience of the human race in relation to all great undertakings was favorable to success. He had never been in England or trod the heather of Scotland, but adopting the proud boast of the people of the greatest empire of the past, that all roads led to Rome, he wanted to see all the avenues of the British empire directed to and centering in the present world's metropolis—London. Imperial Federation was a grand and attractive idea, and worth striving for. He regarded it as one of the chief arguments in its favor that it was a noble aspiration. The motion was carried unanimously.

The chairman then read the constitution of the League as generally adopted.

Mr. Duval expressed himself entirely in accord with the society, and in favor of making it a practical working organization and not merely a formal expression of its members' feelings in a general way.

After a brief discussion the officers were elected as follows: President, R. H. Alexander; vice-presidents, F. C. Cotton, and Revs. E. D. McLaren and H. P. Hobson; treasurer, C. Sweeny; secretary, R. E. Gosnell; executive committee, J. M. Duval, F. Cops, A. H. B. MacGowan, W. Prentice, J. F. Garden, Wm. Downie, C. C. Fisher, H. Abbott, R. Law, A. St. G. Hamersley, A. E. Beck, J. D. Hall.

In this connection it will not be amiss to enquire if an invitation was extended to the Rev. Principal Grant, during his late visit to Victoria, to give an address on Imperial unity. As Imperial Federal League has been in existence in Victoria for some years, and if it has any object to serve, or anything to accomplish, it should be the education of the people on a subject of which little or nothing is known. Rev. Principal Grant is one of the very few in Canada who have given the scheme any thought or study, and was eminently qualified to enlighten us.

AN EVENTFUL PASSAGE.

Capt. Lewis, of the Bark Lebu, Carries on Sail.

The British bark Lebu, Capt. Thos. D. Lewis, which was moored alongside Welch, Rithet & Co.'s wharf on Saturday evening, had a rather eventful trip out from Liverpool. She left that port on May 5th, with a general cargo for Victoria, had to beat down channel and across the Bay of Biscay to the N. E. trades, which were struck to the eastward of Cape de Verde Islands; she carried them to the equator, which was crossed in 27d. west longitude, 31 days out. After this strong gales and heavy weather prevailed, with west to southwest wind until to the eastward of the Falkland Islands, where a heavy southeast gale was encountered which for six days, the vessel being kept under topsails and spanker. When this gale had blown itself out the Lebu was in 46d. south lat, 101d. west long. From this point to the picking up of the southeast trades, moderate weather was had, with the exception of a gale in 45 south lat, 99 west long, which carried away the spanker boom. In 29 south lat. and 100 west long. the southeast trades were entered, and in 93 days out the equator was again crossed, the remarkably quick time of 30 days from 48 S. lat. and 120 W. long. had been made.

From the line she had southwest wind, strong. On the 15th of August she was struck by a squall from the northwest, which carried away the back ropes, bowsprit and several sails. The bowsprit was secured, and the fore topgallant mast and yards sent down, this being necessary on account of the weak state of the head gear.

This taking off of sail hurt the speed of the Lebu considerably, and determined not to make too long a passage, Capt. Lewis made a cross-jack yard of a spare spar, and from the broken spanker boom fashioned a topsail yard, which were rigged on the mizzen, the fore topgallant sail and royal were bent, and the gallant bark went booming along again. Calms were encountered and light winds from 24 N. lat. to 48 N. lat., when westerly winds wafted the vessel to Cape Flattery. Light southerly winds were experienced in the Straits until Race Rocks were reached, when the tug Pilot was taken, and 130 days from Liverpool the anchor was cast in Royal Roads.

The voyage of the Lebu has been an eventful one, but it shows how a British sailor with the pluck of Capt. Lewis can make quick time even when his ship is disabled. The rigging of a bark into a ship was an ingenious idea and was indicative of the spirit of enterprise which actuates the captain.

During the trip there were two vessels spoken, the British bark St. Cuthbert from Iquiqui to Queenstown, loaded with nitrate, sixty days out, and the bark St. Marnock from Newcastle, N. S. W., to 'Frisco. The latter vessel has not yet reported.

A FORMER RECORD.

Capt. Lewis was, in 1888, the hero of an incident which calls for mention. In July of that year his vessel, the Lebu, was lying in Valparaiso harbor. On the 6th of that month a terrible storm arose, called by seafaring men "a norther," which spread destruction in its path. A Chilian ship, the Julia, was lying ahead of the Lebu, and when the gale was at its heighth, she parted her cable and the vessel and her crew were soon drifting to destruction. Capt. Lewis, at the peril of his life, got out a boat and succeeded in saving the crew of the Julia, 10 men in all. Later in the day he also was the means of rescuing 13 more seamen, who were drifting by in an open boat. For this heroic action Capt. Lewis was presented with a massive gold medal by the order Freemasons, as well as a medal from the Society for Saving Life. Although young in years, Capt. Lewis being but 28, he has proved that for courage there are few to excel him, and his last trip from England, in which he made a quick run in spite of adverse winds and accidents, is proof that he has not degenerated since his action in 1888. To converse with the captain one would hardly credit the stories of his grit, for a more quiet and unassuming gentleman would be hard to find, and while courteous and willing to impart information, makes no boast of his exploits.

B. C. EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

Manager Sharpe Will Start For It Next Week.

Mr. Thomas A. Sharpe, who has been appointed by the Dominion government manager of the British Columbia experimental farm, was in Winnipeg last Tuesday. He was seen by a Sun reporter. Mr. Sharpe is said to have the finest farm in Manitoba. It is situated near Wakopa in Southern Manitoba, and consists of 750 acres, all planted with trees so as to resemble a park. It was doubtless because of his merits as a farmer that Mr. Sharpe was selected to manage the farm. He has just returned from a visit east, where he met Professor Saunders and made all his arrangements to commence work. He brought up seed, etc., and, accompanied by his wife and family and some thoroughbred stock, he will start for the farm next week. It is located near Harrison Hot Springs, about a hundred miles, more or less, inland. Mr. Sharpe will at once proceed with the erection of a house to shelter his family during the winter. It is understood that extensive experiments in fruit growing will be conducted. Before coming west, Mr. Sharpe will visit his farm at Wakopa.

The Halcyon Arrives.

The San Francisco schooner Halcyon was towed into port this afternoon by the tug Tepic. She has been cruising in the northern waters for the past few months, and will probably lie at her moorings at the upper end of the harbor for an overhaul and refit.

Y. M. C. A.

Noel H. Jacks, travelling secretary of the Y. M. C. A. addressed the members in the rooms yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Geo. Carter, general secretary of Seattle spoke in the evening.

The visiting secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. will arrive here to-night and be received by a committee of members of the Victoria branch.

"CALLING NAMES."

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir:—I see in this morning's Colonist a scathing editorial under this above heading. Where is "Spero Meliora" now? Does he know that the Hon. J. Robson is nearly every speech on education this year indulged in "calling names?" Yours truly, J. N. Muir.
